

Lounge receives rave reviews

The new Airlines Association Executive Lounge caters well for families.

with their children.

First and business class passengers access the lounge by way of invitation from their individual airlines, with the full cost being paid by the airlines. Passengers enjoy full wireless Internet, PC's, fax, scanner and copier, in addition to a full range of premium drinks and snacks.

The Executive Lounge is also offering a service to corporate Barbados by way of a membership card which is valid for one year, while other passengers who may have need of a lounge can also be facilitated.

"If your flight is delayed and you are not travelling on a first class basis, you can pay a fee to use the lounge until your flight is ready to depart," White stated.

With facilities like this kids room, both parents and children can have a relaxing wait for departure.